North of England Team

For veterans

Improved NHS veterans' mental health services are available across England. If you are experiencing mental health difficulties, these services can provide a range of treatment and support regardless of when you left the armed forces. This includes recognising the early signs of mental health problems and providing access to early treatment and support, as well as therapeutic treatment for complex mental health difficulties and psychological trauma. Patients are also provided with help, where appropriate, with employment, reduction in alcohol consumption, housing and social support.

To access these services, you must meet the following criteria:

- be resident in England
- have served in the UK armed forces for a full day (or be a family member/carer who is experiencing difficulties relating to time and experiences of Military service)
- be registered with a GP practice in England or be willing to register with a GP
- be able to provide your military service number or another form of acceptable proof of eligibility.

If you meet these criteria, you can self-refer or request referral via a health care professional or service charity.

Upon receipt of referral, you will be offered an initial assessment within two weeks and where appropriate a first clinical appointment two weeks thereafter. These appointments are available via telephone, video/online platform or face to face.

Do you need help?

Veterans Trauma Network (VTN)

Despite the name "trauma", VTN deals with all physical health problems in veterans as a result of their time in service - from recurrent heat illness to problems after limb loss, from traumatic brain injury to service related fertility issues. VTN are closely linked to Op COURAGE :The Veterans Mental Health and Wellbeing Service and charities such as BLESMA and Blind Veterans UK so can offer comprehensive care focused around your needs.

Ask your GP to refer you to the VTN at England.

For armed forces personnel approaching discharge

Armed forces personnel approaching discharge can now get treatment and support at NHS veterans' mental health services across England and thereafter into their civilian life, whether this is months or years later. If you are experiencing mental health difficulties, these services can provide a range of treatment and support in close liaison with Defence Medical Services (DMS). This includes recognising the early signs of mental health problems and providing access to early treatment and support, as well as therapeutic treatment for complex mental health difficulties and psychological trauma. Patients are also provided with help, where appropriate, with employment, reduction in alcohol consumption, housing and social support.

To access these services whilst you are still in the armed forces, you must meet the following criteria:

- be a resident in England
- have an identified or diagnosed mental health illness / disorder; AND
- have a discharge date from the Ministry of Defence (MOD) or be found to be unfit for continued military service by their medical board; OR
- have been identified by the Departments of Community Mental Health as requiring follow on psychiatric care on discharge from the MOD; OR
- have had their pre-release medical and been identified by their DMS GP as requiring mental health transition support; OR
- have had a pre-release medical before they self-refer.
